

FOFIE FESTIVAL TO BE HELD AT BOMSO -KUMASI

A special annual community festival has been scheduled from the 17th -25th November, 2012 to be held at Bomso, a suburb of Kumasi, Ghana West Africa.

The festival which is to be held in honour of the deity Nana Kofi Turodoo Fofie and is hosted by one of the most powerful Ghanaian women traditional priests, Nana Yaa Durowaa whose appellation is "Aduro Wura, Ey3 Woa".

In a press release sent the Programme line up is as follows:

Wake Keeping will be on Saturday November 17th

Sitting will be from 18th-25th November, 2012

The festival will be attended by the many members of the Ashanti-regional union for Akomfo and the Akomfomba Union reports Amos Atuahene, our correspondent from KNUST. Government officials and other important dignitaries have also been invited. According to Amos, preparations are on a highest pitch, this very indicative of some good things to come as our elders say ...."Nsuo bet)a Mframa Di Kan" literally translating to how grand the festival is going to be from its preparations. Great entertainment, networking, public sharing, education and healing are guaranteed. Be there in your numbers.

The OBAATANPA House of Hope Inc and the International Center of African Culture and Arts, two culture, education and development organization of New York sends Nana congratulatory messages and to wish her Happy Fofie Afahye.

Source:

Story from Modern Ghana News:

<http://www.modernghana.com/blogs/426430/31/fofie-festival-to-be-held-at-bomso-kumasi.html>

Published: Saturday, October 27, 2012

All trademarks and copyrights on this page are owned by their respective owners.